

Struggling to top up your prepayment meter?

You might be eligible for help

If you:

- ✓ Have a prepayment meter
- ✓ Are at risk of running out of credit
- ✓ Have proof of financial hardship

If you're facing financial pressure and worried you might run out of gas or electricity, you could be eligible for energy vouchers through the Scarf Fuel Fund – worth up to a maximum of £294 across the year.

To apply, you'll need to arrange a home visit from one of our energy advisors. During the visit, we'll talk through your situation, check your eligibility, and help you gather the documents needed to apply.

This support is free, impartial, and could make a real difference if you're struggling to keep the lights on or the heating going.
